House Pushes Plan To Revise School Aid Formula

INVESTIGATION SPOTLIGHT TURNS FROM TEAMSTERS TO THE HUGE BAKERS' UNION

By NORMAN WALKER

Washington (P)—The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee turned from the Teamsters to the Bakers Union today in a drive to sweep corruption out of the 15-million-member labor federation.

The five-man committee called in rival factions of the 160,000-member Bakery and Confectionary Workers Union to answer charges of alleged misuse of union funds.

The committee yesterday presented the embattled Teamsters Union and its president Dave Beck with a 22-page "indictment" listing charges against Beck and a number of other national and local officers of the trucking union, which claims a 1½ million membership.

The Teamsters were given until May 24 to answer the counts or show they recognize union misdeeds and intend to clean them up.

The charges involved in the Bakery Workers case are less spectacular than those against the Teamsters.

Curtis R. Sims, the Bakers secretary-treasurer, has accused the union president, James C. Cross, of misuse of union funds. Sims made similar accusations against George Stuart, a vice president who has since resigned.

Both denied the charges, and the union's board suspended Sims.

In the factional alignment that followed, Herman Winter, president emeritus of the Bakers organization, sided with Cross.

Sims said last month he understood Cross was repaying to the union some $2,500 for personal telephone calls to a girl friend and that he also was returning to the union "three embarrassing Cadillac."

Cross replied through a spokesman that although there was nothing improper "in my use of the telephone or in accepting an automobile gift," he was paying for the phone calls and returning the car.

Police Chief Herbert Kapp estimated that 2,000 persons an hour walked past the casket in the first four hours. The line of those waiting was four abreast and at times was four blocks long. The body remained in the open church throughout the night.

Neighbors Pay Final Tribute To McCarthy

Appleton, Wis. (P)—Thousands of friends who knew him not as a turbulent United States senator but as a friendly neighbor last night filed past the casket of Joseph R. McCarthy.

Late yesterday his neighbors gave a solemn final homecoming to McCarthy. His body was flown to Wisconsin after funeral services in Washington.

Final services were scheduled here today in the church that McCarthy attended as a boy, with the Rev. Adam Grill officiating.

McCarthy, guarded by two members of the Marine Corps, reposed in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, and thousands strode past and signed four registers in the vestibule.

Police Chief Herbert Kapp estimated that 2,000 persons an hour walked past the casket in the first four hours. The line of those waiting was four abreast and at times was four blocks long. The body remained in the open church throughout the night.

Conspiracy Trial Witnesses Deny Being Intimidated

Pittsburgh (P)—Two one-time state employees testified today at the conspiracy trial of four former state officials that they never were intimidated in connection with requests for contributions to a Republican political campaign.

Arthur L. Patterson, 34, of Pittsburgh, and Miss Agnes B. Fenn, of suburban McKees Rocks, were called by the state on the second day of the trial.

Patterson who said he was discharged in 1955 with the advent of a Democratic administration had been employed by the state since 1944 as manager of the Pittsburgh office of the State Insurance Dept.

Miss Fenn, who now is a stenographer for the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers in Pittsburgh, said she had been employed by the state from 1930 until 1956 in the Harrisburg office of the State Department of Revenue as a private secretary.

Under questioning by Defense attorney Edward V. Buckley, Miss Fenn said "nothing was said as to what would happen" if the state orders did not contribute.

Earlier the treasurer of the 1954 Republican primary campaign said that as far as he knew 11 donations to the fund were voluntary contributions.

Philadelphia Man Inaugurated Auditor General In Changeover

Harrisburg (P)—Charles C. Smith, Philadelphia, was inaugurated as auditor general of Pennsylvania today, completing the changeover of the two offices to check and pay out state funds.

The May inaugural ceremonies, held by the State Constitution, started yesterday with induction of Robert F. Kent, Meadville, as state treasurer. Kent succeeded Eldon B. Heyburn, of Delaware County. Smith replaced Charles Barber, of Erie. All are Republicans.

The oath of office was administered by Judge G. Harold Watkins, the State Superior Court. Smith is escorted to the oath-taking ceremony by two top aides while served in the House, Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, and Rep. Adam T. Bower (R-Northumberland). Speaker W. Stuart Helm presided.

The House delayed its session for the day until late afternoon so legislators could attend a reception given by Smith after the inauguration.

The Philadelphia Republican, who served as House speaker in 1953 and as his party's floor leader in the 1955 session, pledged in his inaugural address to operate his office "as though the public were looking over my shoulder every minute."

Smith was first elected to the House in 1943 and served successive terms through the 1955 session. He defeated Francis R. Smith for auditor general and will receive a salary of $22,500 in the post.

Warren Borough School Board Gives Final Approval to the $1,090,188 Budget for 57-58

Warren Borough School Board last night gave final approval to 1957-58 school year budget of $1,090,188.64 while meeting in regular session at Warren High School.

Members reported this budget figure, tentatively adopted earlier, would mean no increase in the present school taxes of 25 mills per dollar of assessed evaluation and $5 per capita and $5 residence tax.

Board members also approved purchase of a television set, first of its kind to be used in the borough school system. The TV will be placed in the special classroom at Jefferson School.

Board members took notice of the stability of local teachers as they hired four new ones for the fall, two to replace retiring teachers and two for the new rooms at South Street School. They are (followed by school where trained): Miss Mary Withington of Youngsville (Edinboro); Mrs. Esther Anderson of Ludlow (Clarion); Miss Marjorie Daum of Oil City (Clarion); Miss Janet Harris of Edinboro (Clarion).

Receipt of a reimbursement check from the state for $200,545 was noted.

Board members, who had been withholding approval or disapproval of the plan to integrate social security with present teachers' retirement benefit, last night went on record as opposing the idea after the opinion of teachers had been secured and they were found to be against it.

Myron Jewell was reelected treasurer and Fritz Kieshauser was reelected secretary. Special summer contracts for boilers, stokers and movie machines were approved, as were plans for moving ahead early with coal bids.

April expenses in the amount of $35,810 were okayed and the usual summer maintenance program was approved. Permission was granted; for David Olson to attend PTA Council Presidents' Conference in Harrisburg this Thursday; for Jefferson PTA to hold an ice cream social May 23rd and East Street PTA social May 17, and for Cub Scouts to hold a Seneca street meeting May 13.

Text book committee announced selection of an elementary health book and a 6th grade social studies text. (Once selected, the book must be used at least five years, according to state law.)

Gen. Warren Leaves Pedestal

For the first time since it was erected at the point in the park at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue, Third avenue and Hazel street, the statue of General Joseph Warren has been removed from the pedestal, as noted in the above picture taken by local photographer Everett Stoke. It has been removed by the Jaycees in connection with plans to refurbish it as part of the present Clean-Up-Fix Up-Paint Up Week campaign.

Inspection Dates For Racers In Second Annual Soap Box Derby Announced By Jaycees

An inspection of racers for the Second Annual Warren County Soap Box Derby, sponsored by Dan's Chevrolet, Warren Times-Mirror, and the Warren Jaycees has been set for the week of June 10th, it was announced today by Derby director, Dana Harland.

The purpose of these inspections are to insure that each racer meets the requirements of safety and construction necessary for optimum car performance. The inspection procedure has been established by the National Soap Box Derby over the past 19 years. No car will be allowed to race without first having successfully passed the required inspection. Will Wakely, the Inspection Committee Chairman, stated today that announcement cards listing the time and place of the inspection will be sent to each entrant. If, however, the boy feels that he is ready to have his racer inspected prior to his appointed date, he should notify the inspection committee so that a new date may be scheduled.

The inspection is set to begin the week of June 10th, and will continue until every entrant's racer has passed inspection. Director Harland states that the boys should pay particular attention to the five general areas of car construction that will be vigorously inspected. These areas are body designs, cockpit openings, steering, wheels and brakes. A report of the inspection results will be given each entrant, which will then be discussed with him by a member of the inspection committee. Any defects found in the racer must be corrected before a reinspection is made, if the correction is minor tools will be available at the inspection station for the entrant's use.

When the car is passed by the Inspection Committee, it will be impounded until the day of the race when the boy will again be given an opportunity to make any minor adjustments.

The Committee feels that a close and rigorous inspection makes for an accident free race with the winner confident that his car will be accepted by the National Inspection Committee.

In order to help the boys in the construction of their racer, the third in a series of clinics will be held Wednesday, May 8th, at 7 p. m. Room 5 and 6 in the YMCA. Every boy entered or interested in entering this year's Derby is urged to attend these clinics at which time the five general areas mentioned will be discussed.

ASSOCIATION REQUEST FOR INCREASE IN SALARIES BY $21,000,000 IS REJECTED

Harrisburg (P)—The House Republican leadership today pushed a plan to pay school districts $30,300,000 in increased state aid in the next two years on the basis of a revised formula.

Rep. Andrew W. Moscrip (R-Bradford), selected to carry the floor fight for the program, said he anticipated "some opposition" from what he termed wealthier school districts.

The House Education Committee sent the plan to the floor last night after rejecting a request by the Pennsylvania State Education Association to increase teachers' salaries by 21 million dollars.

Most teachers, however, will get a $300 pay boost July 1 and another $300 a year later under existing law.

Moscrip said the $30,300,000 makes up for similar legislation vetoed by Gov. Leader last year for insufficient state funds.

The figure is also on top of an automatic 10½ million dollar boost in school subsidies for the next two-year fiscal period starting June 1. The over-all 1957-59 budget figure for that item is $718,216,000.

A six-member Republican task force drafted the amendments. Its members included Chairman Marjorie E. Markley of the House Education Committee and Reps. Moscrip, George A. Goodling (R-York), Chairman Paul L. Wagner (R-Schuylkill) of the Senate Education Committee and Sens. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster) and James S. Berger (R-Potter).

Other legislative developments: Sales Tax Amendments—Senate Democrats sponsored a plan to exempt private schools, hospitals and charitable organizations and public housing authorities from paying the 3 per cent sales tax on their purchases.

Attorney General—The Senate tional amendment to provide that passed 33-11 a proposed constitution the attorney general be elected by the people instead of appointed by the governor.

The measure went to the House. If approved there, it would have to clear the 1959 Legislature in (Turn to Page Nine)

CAB Official Declares Executives Bad Fliers

Los Angeles, (P)—Young business executives with private planes have entirely too many crackups, says an aerial traffic cop who adds: They're fat, dumb and happy.

Charles Walker of the Civil Aeronautics Administration said young businessmen buy expensive planes with fine instrumentation, then never learn how to use the instruments properly.

"They made a success in business and they think flying is easy — so they stick their necks out," said Walker, who believes that 90 percent of aircraft accidents are due to "stupidity."

Washington (P)—The White House said today it regards the cars of newsmen accompanying President Eisenhower on trips as part of the official motorcade.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty put it that way in response to questions about an episode which occurred Sunday.

When Eisenhower started the return drive to Washington from his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., a Pennsylvania State trooper attempted to cut newsmen's cars out of the Eisenhower caravan.

The trooper's superior said later that he had been assured by Secret Service agents who guard the President that the cars carrying newsmen were not a part of the official White House caravan and could be cut out of it to avoid holding up other traffic.

Secret Service Agent Jerry Behn, who was in charge of the presidential detail Sunday, said yesterday that as far as he knew no one in the detail had given the Pennsylvania police any such word.

In reply to questions today, Hagerty said that as far as he and the Secret Service are concerned newsmen's cars are part of the official presidential motorcade.

Pulitzer Awards For the Late Eugene O'Neill and a Senator

New York (P)—The late dramatist Eugene O'Neill has won his fourth Pulitzer Prize and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) has won the first ever bestowed on a member of Congress.

The awards were among 14 Pulitzer Prizes in letters, journalism and music announced yesterday by the trustees of Columbia University.

O'Neill received the drama award posthumously for his autobiographical play "Long Day's Journey Into Night." It is a current Broadway hit.

The biography prize went to Kennedy, 39-year-old Massachusetts Democrat, for his "Profiles in Courage." The book is a study of political integrity as exemplified by selected U. S. politicians, some famed and some obscure.

Only poet Robert Frost and the playwright-biographer Robert Sherwood have also won four Pulitzer Prizes in the 40-year history of the awards.

O'Neill previously won Pulitzer Prizes for "Beyond the Horizon," 1920, "Anna Christie" 1922 and "Strange Interlude" 1928.

No fiction award was made this year. Kenneth Roberts received a special citation, however, for his novels on the nation's early history.

Eight prizes were granted in the field of journalism.

The Chicago Daily News took the meritorious public service award for exposing a 2½-million-dollar fraud in the office of the then state auditor of Illinois, Orville E. Hodge.

The work of 21 of the newspapers' staff members ultimately led to Hodge's imprisonment.

The Pulitzer Prizes were established in 1917 under the will of the late Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the old New York World.

First Boy Scout County Fair Planned May, 1958

The first Boy Scout County Fair in the history of Cornplanter Council was scheduled for May 23 and 24 of 1958 at a meeting of Boy Scouts executives last night in United Reformatory office building. All Scout units will have at least one booth at the fair with live exhibits of skill and crafts. Other tentative plans call for Indian Dancing Competition, Cub Pinewood Derby and a Chief Cornplanter Pageant.

Indian Hollow Proving Just As Big a Problem Where it Formerly Ran as It Is in Present Course

For two years now, motorists have alternately dodged either the construction or the bump in front of 306 Conewango avenue across from the northern half of Beaty Field. Street Commissioner Lee Webster (above) scratches his head as he plans the next step in a running conflict which has taken the street department and other allied concerns through broken sewers, broken water mains, quicksand and the mystery of the missing sand. Where will it all end? Nobody knows.

For those who think Indian Hollow Run is a troublesome tributary in its present stream bed, the Warren Borough Street Department will volunteer the information that Indian Hollow Run is just as big a problem where it used to run, approximately 250 yards south on Conewango Avenue.

Two years ago the Street Department started digging down in front of the old Allen home (now owned by Lloyd Cleveland) to repair a deep sewer. Today, some 730 odd days, quicksand, broken pipes, ruptured water mains and undermined concrete later, the pavement is still torn up and there exists there the most unpopular bump inside Warren Borough.

For two years cars have swung to (or clung to) the Beaty Field edge of Conewango avenue at the repair point to avoid a foot-deep depression in the roadbed. Nobody has been killed there yet but the construction was the indirect cause of a fatality when a motorist swung wide around a barricade at Conewango and Fifth and slammed into a tree, killing his companion.

And why the bump? It's a long story as gutter stories go.

In 1955, nearby residents noticed that water backed up in their cellars after a heavy rain. This indicated a broken sewer line somewhere. It was finally located in front of 306 Conewango Avenue.

Borough workers dug down 13 feet or so, found the leak and a little extra—namely quicksand. A man could stand in it and be sucked in to the knees in a matter of moments.

This necessitated enclosing the entire pipe (about 50 feet of it) in cement to shore it up and make it secure past the quicksand. Everyone thought it would hold but it didn't.

So down 13 feet again goes Keystone Construction Company and they finish enclosing the entire section (about 125 feet) in concrete two feet thick. Then fill is put in and above the joint an eight-inch layer of concrete is put in to make the roadbed solid.

A week or two later Street Commissioner Lee Webster was over examining the site and lo and behold—there was a 10-inch hole beside the concrete layer. Further digging and investigation revealed that flow from a broken water pipe had chewed away the packing under the cement and left vacant spaces up to a foot beneath the concrete.

Back out came the shovels and picks while men sweated overtime, chopping their way through the concrete to get at and repair the water line which was broken. Discovered co-incidentally, was that the water had flowed through the fill and washed away all the fine sand in the gravel. It was thought this may have flowed into still another break in the sewer line but test samples from both nearby catch basins showed this was not the case.

So, with the mystery of the missing sand still unraveled, the hole was filled up again and there the story rests. The street department is waiting now to see if the water leak is finally filled and the subterranean undercutting stopped. It seems to be and plans are for a blacktop coat in the near future.

But... Residents nearby claim they still can hear running water when all the taps are shut off. This means that perhaps sly old Indian Run (or another water pipe) is still rampaging in its original channel and deep down is undercutting new sewer pipes and all. Time alone will tell, and in the meantime—watch that bump.

More Than 1,000 Visitors Set New Attendance Record At The State Hospital's Open House

When over 1,000 interested visitors passed through the various buildings of Warren State Hospital, Saturday afternoon, upon the occasion of Open House Day, it marked the largest attendance in the history of the hospital. All 13 Northwestern Pennsylvania counties served by the institution were represented in the many touring groups, as well as other Pennsylvania counties and six states. Attendance, interest in the displays and on-the-scene activities far exceeded the fondest expectations of Hospital authorities. Continuous groups arrived at the Hospital after 4 p.m. which had been the deadline set for tours to end.

With a number of recreational activities in progress, visitors said they were entranced by the opportunity to see some of the over 3,000 patients at work and play. Two Occupational Therapy groups were busy with their usual needlework, handicraft and stenciling on women's wards, while Recreational Therapy presented its patients' dancing class in session in the Auditorium with the Hospital Jazz Band, made up of patients, providing lively music. The polka, round and square dances were being taught under direction of James Hillman, Director of Recreation, and his staff. Lloyd Van Tassel, Director of Music, was in charge of the orchestra.

It was almost a bottleneck when the guests arrived at the spot where the patients' choir was in practice. Mrs. Donald Edinger was directing and attendant Marie Krietzler was at the piano. The guests gave real applause to the earnest little group of singers and reluctantly made way for other visitors to observe.

In another activity which the public could view, 40 women and men patients were engaged in mixed "500," a party which takes place every two weeks. This event is arranged for through Volunteer Services and two of the Volunteer Workers, Mrs. F. J. Kotmair and Mrs. Thomas J. Donnelly, were in charge. Volunteers always provide appropriate prizes for two high and two low scores and serve refreshments.

Another group which was in session was the Hospital News Writing Class, made up of both men and women, a group which writes articles for the Hospital's Occasional and The Weekly Occasional. Various members of the club were delegated as reporters on Saturday to help "cover" the activities of Open House.

PROOF OF LOYALTY
Among those who donated their services to show the many visitors through the Hospital were nurses, attendants and 17 Psychiatric and Chaplains also were on hand to help with the day's program. Originally, 50 guides had been arranged for but the constant flow of visitors made it necessary to add 25 more. It is difficult to estimate how many miles some of the tour guides traveled during the busy afternoon.

There was much interest in the newly remodeled and redecorated patients' library. Here, Miss Ada Coe of the Volunteers, was librarians choosing books. Two Volunteers, Mrs. Andrew Nelson and Mrs. M. H. Deardorff, were aides to Mrs. John Urbaitis, Director of Volunteers.

Pictures of the Administration and Medical staffs headed the long line of corridor displays in Center Building, followed by those of Recreational Therapy, careers in nursing, affiliating student nurses. Volunteer Workers, Chaplains, rehabilitation program, Warren State Hospital Local 469 of State, County and Municipal Employees, Occupational and Industrial Therapy, Psychiatric Technicians' Association and the nursing program.

The Social Service display and the work during the day of the Social Service department was a prominent part of the event.

Every building and every phase of the great hospital were open to the public on Saturday. If tours did not include certain wards or departments which the visitors wanted to see, they were still free to do so - surgery, the laboratory, X-ray and dental departments, and whichever wards they wanted to visit. The big kitchen drew the interest of all, and there were many complimentary remarks about the implicit cleanliness of all departments and the beautiful grounds surrounding the Hospital.

Open House Day came as a climax to Mental Health Week observed not only at Warren State Hospital but throughout the nation. Hospital officials said they were most gratified to have not only the 13 counties represented but other counties and six states as well. It was noted that many New York cars were among the hundreds parked in the North Warren area during the afternoon.

Aviation News

Edward Fitzgerald, of Midtown Motors, was a passenger to Lockport, New York last Tuesday. Mr. Fitzgerald was traveling on company business. He and the pilot Mel Barron, had the experience of arriving at their destination only to find that the airport was closed and the hangar had been destroyed by fire. However, the runways were still useable and a routine landing was made.

George V. Jordan, of Warren was a passenger to Pittsburgh Wednesday afternoon. The sky was clear and the visibility excellent. Mr. Jordan found the flight quite enjoyable.

John Huey and Tom Marsh student pilot members of the Warren Aviation Club, went to Erie last Tuesday to take the Private Pilot's written examination. They report that the Civil Aeronautics Administration are now giving a new type test which is much more complicated and take a good deal longer to complete than the old type exam. The C.A.A. has a three hour time limit in which to complete the test. The questions are mostly on radio and weather. The tests are sent to Washington to be graded and it takes ten days to two weeks to receive the grades.

The Warren Aviation Club will still meet the first and third Wednesday evenings of each month, but, the time has been changed from 8:00 to 8:30 because flight activities carry on until later in the evening due to daylight savings time being in effect. The next meeting will be May 15th and a weiner roast is scheduled for after the meeting.

MAN OF THE YEAR—ANY YEAR

Whatever your estimate of the people who make news—whether political leaders, labor tycoons, exponents of rock 'n' roll, atomic scientists, business big-wigs, or beauty queens—the most important man in America might well be the dairy farmer.

In providing us with more than 126 billion pounds of fresh, pure milk a year, he becomes the nation's major nutrient, the mainstay of our health and energy. And it's pretty hard to think of anyone more important than that.

But, up till now—and in spite of his vital place in our lives—he has been the man nobody knows, just another farmer. For the first clear picture of Public Hero Number One, we are indebted to the Milk Industry Foundation which has just completed a nationwide survey on this very human subject. It reveals:

The average American dairy farmer is 47. He milks 14 cows—with milking machines—ships 350 pounds (just over 40 gallons) of milk a day. He has been producing milk for fourteen years, and in three cases out of four owns his own farm. He makes (gross) just under $5,000 a year from his farm operation—about half of this from milk.

He subscribes to both weekly and daily newspapers and an average of 3.7 farm magazines. He has a radio and a television set. He believes in his own product, and drinks almost four glasses of it a day.

But the survey also suggests that the underlying cause of recent milk strikes and other differences is a lack of understanding between this man who produces our milk and the man who puts it on the doorstep. Four out of ten of all the farmers interviewed did not know how the price they receive for their milk is arrived at—even though 66 percent of all milk is priced at the farm under Federal or State regulations. More than seventy percent had no accurate knowledge of the dealer's profit. They estimated that he made 5.4 cents on a quart of milk, but felt that 3.8 cents would be reasonable and proper. Actually, the dealer's profit is half a cent a quart.

Thus it would seem to be high time for more intelligent contact, and more frequent and regular contact between town and country. In short, the dairy farmer and the milkman ought to get to know each other!

DONORS NEEDED AT YOUNGVILLE

Donors are desperately needed for the Blood Bank which will be held in Youngville Methodist church tomorrow. This is the Center for not only Youngville, but the Sugar Grove, Tidiloute and entire western end of Warren county.

The usual volunteer workers will again be in charge of arranging for this visit, with a quota of 150 pints to meet—and only 27 donors signed up.

Drop-ins will be welcome at any time and jaundiced patients will also be accepted for this visit.

Donors—make your Mother's Day donation of blood—tomorrow, at Youngville!

REPRIEVE FOR GALLANT LADY

Most Americans probably will be glad to hear that the fabled World War II carrier Enterprise has been saved from the scrapyard at least until next November. The reprieve gives the men who sailed her a further chance to raise $1,000,000 to convert the old ship into a lasting memorial.

The "Big E," sometimes called the "fightingest ship the Navy had in any war," bears the scars of 21 Pacific naval battles. Though it was a powerhouse in its day, the vessel has long since outlived its military usefulness.

Right now the Enterprise rests at a berth in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Those Americans who want to keep the valiant ship in being, who want to prevent it from having to take that last journey to the scrap heap, can send contributions to Fleet Adm. William F. Halsey (Ret.) at 208 E. 46th St., New York. The Enterprise was Halsey's flagship at the time of Pearl Harbor.

"Real Big Time, Pal, Real Big Time"

Here and There

Seventy years ago this week The Warren Mail conveyed the following exciting news to readers of the community: "The poles are up for electric lights. The company doing the work is that of the gas illuminating company. As to the other company, about which we have heard so much, nothing can be learned. Perhaps competition in electric lighting may be as advantageous as competition in gas; but there is little prospect that a competing company will be started just yet. The company now starting will have their works in operation soon. With gas light, electric light, two fuel gas companies and our people full of energy, new manufacturing enterprises anticipated, Warren is still on the highway to prosperity. Warren never goes a great way backwards. She is as permanent as the hills, and every year finds her further advanced than the year before, notwithstanding the 'chestnut' cry of some croakers that Warren is dead. Warren is the liveliest and most permanent town between Erie and Williamsport and refuses to die at the whim of those who have failed to rob her." . . . It is also noted that "Ed Clemen's ice wagon will make daily trips through the city from this date on!" . . . Another item of interest to present-day readers says: "The Postal Telegraph Company will move into the Carver Hotel this month, and the Western Union will probably locate on Second avenue, next to the Savings Bank!" . . . Says another item: "Peach blossoms are coming out—are out, as a matter of fact, but the apple blossoms are a few days later. Vegetation is making vigorous progress. Farmers are busy with their crops and the female portion of town and country are cleaning up about the premises and cleaning the houses." . . . And finally: "With gloomy face and hat askew, with hair unkempt, unpolished shoe, with sloughing gate and actions queer, his neck-tie fastened 'neath his ear, he shuffles sulkily along, and looks as if there's something wrong. Wouldst know what means that battered hat, that rusty, ragged old cravat, that shambling gait, that tangled hair, that sullen aspect of despair? Approach and whisper in his ear: 'Erastus, what's to pay, my dear?' And hear old 'Rastus grumblingly, say, 'My wife is cleaning house today!'"

Bev Kelley is the dean of the old-time circus press agents. He was for long advance man for the Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey Circus, as it played its way across the country and down the years. Kelley is also something of a poet and philosopher. And, for a man of that temperament, these are tough times in the circus world. The old order has changed and it has yielded to a new order which lacks the glamour, the color, the smell and the spirit of circus past. Every once in a while, Bev Kelley, the poet, is forced to comment on the sadness that Bev Kelley, the circus press agent, sees around him. On one such occasion, he wrote the following poem: RE-QUIEM FOR PIANO (STEAM) by Bev Kelley. Sound the strong notes. Play them for a hundred railroad cars—on same tours more; some less, but thereabouts a hundred in four trains. Press down now on the white hot keys—a requiem for Percheron and Belgians; three hundred twenty-five, full-strength; of hands and red-and-gold upon the streets. Now make a symphony for canvas—twelve thousand yards of eight-ounce drill. Compose a melody describing sight and sound and smell—and children's faces lighted with the thrill. Touch keys that musically describe the cookhouse, and then try to conjure up the magic of the late, late afternoon—the shadows slanting on the backyard card games, and on sleeping clowns. Capture now the midway as the first faint star is born. And spread your blistered fingers to extol, in bright-toned steam, the warmth of charcoal buckets on chill nights in autumn Dixie. Lastly, now, reach back and find a chord to hold forever there, in reverie, the sound of hoof on pavement late at night; the hub-cap rumble and the corner flare.

Washington Letter

BY PETER EDSON, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Soviet Russia has begun a new drive for improved trade relations with the United States. The Russians have accepted an invitation to Oklahoma's Semecentennial Exhibition.

Celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Sooner State's admission to the Union, the exhibit will be held on the state fair grounds in Oklahoma City, June 14 through July 7.

Dmitri I. Koslyukhin, commercial counselor of the Soviet embassy in Washington, confirms the fact.

It is regarded here as the opening which the USSR has been seeking for some time to send a top trade delegation.

AS IS CUSTOMARY on many of these Soviet diplomatic moves, however, first announcement that the Russians would take part in the Oklahoma trade fair came through Moscow radio.

In an English language broadcast beamed to North America, Mikhail Nesterov, president of the Soviet Chamber of Commerce, revealed that "We have accepted (the Oklahoma invitation) hoping that the exposition will stimulate Soviet-American trade."

Nesterov complained that the Russians had been given very little space at Oklahoma City, so that only a small part of their usual international trade fair exhibit could be shown.

Nesterov said they would show a Russian turndrill and model, which is of great interest to oil men. Also, the Russians will show "cameras, hunting and sporting rifles, amber, porcelain, malachite and silver jewelry, pelts, fabrics, art pieces, rugs, books, magazines, postage stamps and some foods and manufactured goods."

In Oklahoma City, James C. Burge, a director of the Semecentennial, said 13 other countries have accepted invitations to exhibit, including Italy, Japan, India and Israel. International House, on the fair grounds is being extended, but even so, space had to be cut down to accommodate all exhibitors.

THE LAST TIME the Russians showed goods in the U.S. was at the World's Fair in Flushing Meadows, N.Y., in 1939. They withdrew shortly after the fair was opened, just before they signed their nonaggression pact with Nazi Germany.

The Russians made a late application for space in this year's World Trade Fair in the Coliseum, New York City, but did not exhibit. They have made similar withdrawals from fairs at Bangkok, Paris, Tokyo and Lyons when conditions for their exhibit were unfavorable. But they showed at 45 trade fairs last year to further their foreign relations propaganda.

On that theme, Mikhail Nesterov declared in his Radio Moscow broadcast, "The invitation (from Oklahoma) shows the interest there is in the United States in normalizing relations with the Soviet Union. . . . It is not the fault of the Soviet Union that trade with the United States is at a low ebb."

THREE DAYS AFTER this Nesterov statement, a Soviet economist named Nikolai Torsuyov made another English language broadcast to America to further this drive for more trade. He bemoaned the fact that U.S.-USSR trade "has petered out in the last few years," although "in the 1930's the USSR was one of the biggest buyers of American industrial goods."

"To counterbalance the slogan, 'Let's arm,' we have advanced the slogan, 'Let's trade.'"

U.S.-USSR trade is now limited by U.S. law and by Soviet embargoes. Also, Soviet Russia has not yet settled for goods furnished it under World War II Lend Lease.

Large Number Take Part In Forest Co. Homemakers Day

Publicity release from the Forest County Home Economics Instructor

More than sixty people took part in the Forest County Homemakers Day at the Tionesta Presbyterian Church recently. Attendance was near 100. The planning committee members were Mrs. Carl Jones and Mrs. Ray Shaw, East Hickory; Mrs. John Motzer, German Hill; Mrs. Julian Mast, Smoky Hill; Mrs. Donald Glassner, Tionesta; with Mrs. Harold Seigworth as chairman.

Theme of the day was "Learning More about Our World and Ourselves." Featured speakers were Attorney F. Earle Magee of Oil City, who discussed the duties of elected Forest County officers and Mrs. Marguerite L. Duvall, child development and family life specialist from Penn State. She showed a film, "Search for Happiness" and led a panel which discussed the film and happiness. Panel members were Mrs. Marion Carlinger, Tionesta; Mrs. William Kerr, Sheffield; Mrs. Ray Shaw, East Hickory; Mrs. Howard Taft, Neiltown, and Mrs. Alvin Wagner, Smoky Hill.

One of the high lights of the day was the hat contest. Tin cans, children's toys, feathers, lettuce leaves, chocolate bunnies or anything else milady could find were used to create hats. Judges were Mrs. Duvall, Miss Carolyn Lyon, assistant home economics leader from Penn State, and Miss Rainy Linn, extension home economist from Venango County.

Mrs. J. R. Allio of Smoky Hill won the prize for the most edible hat, made of pie crust and decorated with pink and green cookies and pastry balls. Mrs. Harold Lewis of German Hill won the most out-of-this-world hat modeling a plastic creation trimmed with propeller and ammunition which was designed by Mrs. Edgar Behrens of German Hill.

The loveliest hat prize, awarded to Mrs. Robert Peterson of Neiltown, was for a confection held in place by her son's resistor set and decorated with attractive white roses made from cleansing tissues and one artificial yellow rose.

Another high light was a skit "Let There Be Light" by the Stewart Run group, and directed by Mrs. Raymond Copeland. Mrs. Otis Copeland, Mrs. Oscar Copeland, Mrs. Raymond Copeland, Mrs. John Handy and Mrs. George Lewis showed some of the joys and woes of lighting in the past two hundred years.

A Tionesta group led by Mrs. Charles Brown presented Marilyn Notone and Her Kitchen Band, a hilarious, rather than musical, entertainment. The troupe members were Mrs. Merydith Carson, Mrs. Byron McGinnis, Mrs. Harold Seigworth, Mrs. Frank Watson and Mrs. Paul Whitton.

Rev. E. M. McKee of the Presbyterian Church in Tionesta directed the group singing accompanied by pianist, Mrs. Yale Wilson. Impromptu chairman of the morning program was Mrs. A. C. Benninger, Smoky Hill, and afternoon program chairman was Mrs. Ralph Williams, Clarion.

Miss Carolyn Lyon told about Extension Homemakers Week at LIGHT UP—The signs don't but the Marines wearing them do in a smoke break at Kaneohe, Hawaii. The Marine in center walks in advance of the column to warn vehicles of approaching troops. The other Leathernecks are rear guards who trail the detachment in traffic areas.

Penn State June 17 to 20 Extension home economist, Mrs. Kathleen Zumbro, presented corsages, ribbons and checks to State Farm Show winners. Mrs. John Handy won first prize for the chair she caned and finished and Mrs. J. R. Allio won fourth prize for the angel food cake she baked.

Also, Mrs. Zumbro gave corsages and special thanks to the group chairmen present. They were Mrs. Laura Fitzgerald, Clarion; Mrs. Leon Rudolph, East Hickory; Mrs. Charles Whitton, German Hill; Mrs. Robert Peterson, Neiltown; Mrs. John Handy, Stewart Run; Mrs. Frank Watson, Tionesta; Mrs. Sherman Dodge, Trueman.

Mrs. Ray Shaw of East Hickory told about the wishing well she designed and created. Homemakers used the wishing well to make wishes about extension activities and to contribute to the Homemakers Scholarship Fund.

Exhibits included a county-wide exhibit of hooked and braided rugs with Mrs. Charles Cross of Smoky Hill as chairman, flower and fruit arrangements by Mrs. Paul Great-house of Tionesta.

Exhibit chairmen, their groups and what they exhibited were Mrs. Joe Thomas, Marienville, leatherwork taught by Mr. Steve Nesbella; Mrs. Ray Shaw, East Hickory, copper planters and meat can lamps; Mrs. Sherman Dodge, Trueman, aluminum trays, and the Stewart Run group modeled dresses they made.

Because the Tionesta Volunteer Fireman have been so generous in permitting their Tionesta Firemen's Community Hall to be used for extension activities, the homemakers contributed to their building fund.

The German Hill group was in charge of name tags, registration and giving door prizes with Mrs. Gilbert Carll as chairman. Mrs. Charles Whitton helped with the registration and young Miss Christy Kiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kiser, helped select door prize winners. Winners included Mrs. Samuel Mays, Mrs. Laura Fitzgerald, Mrs. Ralph Williams, Clarion; Mrs. Marion Rupert, Trueman; Mrs. Lena Jones, East Hickory; Mrs. George Lewis, Mrs. John Handy, Stewart Run; Mrs. Arthur Benninger, Mrs. Margaret Shaufl, Smoky Hill; Mrs. Merydith Carson, Mrs. Frank Thack, Mrs. Frank Watson, Tionesta.

Move Launched Locally to Aid Retarded Children in County

(Publicity release from the Warren County Chapter, Pennsylvania Association of Retarded Children.)

Approximately thirty parents, teachers, and interested friends of Warren county retarded children met in the small courtroom in Warren County Courthouse on Tuesday, April 30, at 7:30 p. m.

The meeting opened with remarks by Mrs. Clifford Bollinger who acted as temporary chairman of the meeting. K. E. Carlson was appointed to serve as secretary for this meeting.

After receiving the results of a recent trip through Folk School and visiting with representatives of chapters located in other western Pennsylvania chapters, she introduced Paul Bachman, field representative of the Pennsylvania Association of Retarded Children in Philadelphia.

Mr. Bachman outlined the operations of the National office located in New York City. Their main aims are to direct research, advice, problems, and legislation on a national scope.

The Pennsylvania office objectives are to organize local chapters in various counties and stimulate general public interest in the problems of retarded children.

He then explained the aims and objectives of the local county chapters of which there are now 37 in Pennsylvania, which embraces approximately 90% of the states population. The local projects would include such things as gathering together parents with similar problems, acquaint public with problems of parents, to exchange ideas and information for mutual assistance, to establish classes, to further and implement legislation for additional funds for schools and institutions, to establish work shops, clinics, religious training classes, and many other examples which are being done in various counties.

After a very interesting, informal discussion period, a motion was made and seconded that Mrs. Bollinger act as temporary chairman to plan future meetings and present a local program. After calling for volunteers to work on a committee to assist her, the following responded: Mrs. Florence Stevens, Anthony Regna, Miss Claire Elliott, Mrs. Cory, Mr. Heathers, K. E. Carlson, Mrs. Chappel (Tidoute), and Mrs. Simpson.

This committee will meet at the home of Melvin Smith, 1003 Coneywango avenue, this evening at 7:30. Another general meeting was scheduled for Tuesday, May 21, place to be announced later.

MR. AND MRS. SALVATORE T. COLERA

Nancy Virginia, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude J. Gleason of 407 Fourth avenue, became the bride of Salvatore T. Colera, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Colera, 202 Hopkins avenue, Jamestown, N. Y., on April 27 in St. Joseph's church.

Father Alfred Bauer performed the double ring ceremony at 10:00 a. m. before an altar decorated with all-white flowers. Kathleen Edinger was at the organ for traditional music and as accompanist for the vocalist, Joseph Guiffre, Jr.

Given in marriage by her brother, Walter J. Gleason, the bride wore chantly lace over satin, with pleated nylon at the hemline. A crown of nylon tulle, accented with teardrop pearls and sequins, held her fingertip veil and her flowers were white roses and carnations with ivy sprays on a white lace-trimmed fan.

Mrs. Joseph Ricotta, of Falconer, was her sister's matron of honor; bridesmaids were Marilyn Albaugh, Warren, and Carol Colera, Jamestown. They were gowned alike in white taffeta, with pale yellow sashes and hats, the brides-

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Timmis, Sr., 619 Conewago avenue, were honored at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Steinkamp on Warren-Jamestown road Saturday evening, when a delightful surprise party was given by their family to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Timmis was presented with an orchid corsage and Mr. Timmis a boutonniere from their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Timmis, Jr. The latter were unable to be present for the happy occasion, since John was appearing in the play, "Jim Dandy" at Pennsylvania State University.

After an enjoyable evening of bridge, a buffet lunch was served to approximately 60 guests. Table appointments featured silver and white, with a silver cup topping a lovely three-tier anniversary cake. Candles and white snapdragon bouquets continued the decorative theme throughout the home.

Out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lord, Bradford; Herbert Cedarquist, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Erickson, Youngville; Mrs. Margaret Hartman, Sugar Grove; Joseph Abbott, Randolph, N. Y. The honored guests were remembered with many nice gifts.

Famous Artists Will Be Exhibiting In Coming Art Sponsors' Show Here

The Warren Art Group takes great pride in the fact that a number of nationally known artists have accepted the invitation to exhibit in the Art Sponsors' Exhibition on here this year. Two of the most interesting are the Chinese-American artists, Chen Chi and Dong Kingman.

Chen Chi was born in Wushu, Kiangsu, China and studied in China. He has won numerous awards, among them prizes in the American Water Color Show, the National Academy of Design, Butler Art Institute, Philadelphia Water Color Show, Chautauqua Art Exhibition, the Gold Medals of the National Arts Club and the Knickerbocker Artists.

In 1955 he received the $1000 suit, matching accessories, and fur cape, gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Colera, graduate of Warren High School in 1952, has been employed by Warren National Bank. Mr. Colera was graduated from JHS in '52 and formerly worked for Jamestown Art Metal. The bride-elect was honored at parties given by Marilyn Albaugh, Mrs. Vincent Colera, Mrs. Mary Talbot, Mrs. Philip Trass, Mrs. Morris Pollera, Carol Colera, and girls at the bank.

Award of the American Watercolor Society for the "Watercolor of the Year". He is an associate member of the National Academy of Design, a member of the American Watercolor Society, the Audubon Artists, Allied Artists of America, the Philadelphia Watercolor Society and the Salmagundi Club.

He has exhibited in many important exhibitions and has served as instructor in St. John's University, Shanghai, China. His work is very sensitive and individual and could have been painted by no other than a Chinese artist.

Dong Kingman, an equally distinguished artist, is, on the other hand, an exponent of the vigorous Western idiom. He was born in San Francisco, moved to Hong Kong with his parents when he was five years old. He studied in China and when he returned to this country, received his first real break as a painter in the WFA in 1935.

Since then he has received many honors, among them a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1942, prizes in the American Watercolor Society, and the Gold Medal of the Audubon Society. He has exhibited in many national shows and is represented in many private and museum collections. He is greatly interested in teaching watercolor technique and teaches at Columbia University and in the Famous Artists School, Westport, Connecticut. He also taught at Hunter College until 1953.

He is in great demand as a lecturer, and several of the Warren Art Group had the pleasure of hearing him in Jamestown a year ago under the auspices of the Chautauqua Society of Artists.

It is a unique opportunity for the Community to see the work of these two brilliant artists at the Art Sponsors' Show as well as for individuals to acquire original works of art at prices made unusually reasonable for the benefit of the Art Sponsors' Fund.

Unhappy With Your Lot? You Probably Chose It

"It wasn't so difficult," said the fortyish woman who, by sticking to a rigid diet for many months, had managed to drop 40 pounds and at least 10 years.

"Every time I was tempted to break my diet I just asked myself a question: 'Which would I rather have, that piece of apple pie or a nice trim figure?'"

"It was funny how quickly the pie or cake lost its appeal when I made myself mentally choose between it and a size 12 figure."

It's that way all through life. Making a sensible choice isn't too difficult if we force ourselves to see that we are making a choice. Most of our mistakes are made because we don't face up to the fact that we're confronted by a choice. We just drift into the wrong course without quite realizing we could have taken a different turn.

Any time you are dissatisfied with yourself or your life, take a good clear look and see if you haven't made a wrong choice.

THINK TWICE

PEOPLE who neglect their health are actually choosing sickness over health.

People who are painfully shy are actually choosing loneliness over companionship.

People who are careless and slipshod are choosing disorder and confusion over order and sense.

People who don't develop their potentialities are choosing failure over success.

Once you learn to see the choices that are yours it's fairly simple to make a wise choice. It's not recognizing that you have a choice that gets you into trouble.

Troop 101 Girl Scouts Making Bazaar Articles

Elsewhere in this issue will be found an advertisement for a very special Girl Scout event taking place this Friday, Troop 101's bazaar and rummage sale opening at 9:00 a. m. in the little house next to the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, just off Times Square.

The girls have planned a number of "specials" for this event, proceeds of which will be used to help finance a summer trip to Philadelphia. There will be a variety of second hand articles, home baked foods, and articles made by the girls themselves.

These will include many items other girls and young people will want to buy, since the Scouts have chosen to make just those articles they themselves would wish.

Several troop meetings have been devoted entirely to this project, the entire group working on be-sequined and lace-trimmed ribbon ties for the popular sissy blouses. Peggy Holt and Carol Cleveland have done some especially attractive ones.

Jane Ensworth and Barbara Dashem have been making like court jewelers in decorating tiny containers in a style that will make desirable gifts for young girls to give adults, or to cherish for themselves.

Karen Johnson and Gail Barone have been working on glittery bookmarks; Suzanne Blackman on needle cases; Ann Lewis and Linda Dunham on soft toys that teenagers like to display; Susan Punskey is working on a pattern for an unusual stuffed toy; Cynthia Dunham is making bulletin boards; Helene Louise McClure is collecting buttons, sewing them on cards for easier selection by button fanciers and home seamstresses.

The public is cordially invited to shop at the bazaar, which will last from 9:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m.

TODAY is pay day for all who have classified ads.

The Mature Parent

Start Building Trust of Child When He's Little

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A MOTHER writes: "For two years our 13-year-old son has been attending a summer camp run by our church. This year he wants to go to another one with his best friend. Shall we allow this? Is he old enough to make this decision? How can parents tell when a child is ready to make such a decision for himself?"

By the discipline they themselves have given him. If their discipline has required him to correct his mistakes, his power to deal with the bad consequences of mistakes has become a familiar and reliable thing to them. So when he wants to attend a summer camp that may be a mistake, they can say, "All right—try it." They know that if necessary, he'll correct the mistake and write home, "Take me out of here. I was wrong to come."

BUT if their discipline has spared him experience in righting his mistakes, they naturally panic at his demand to risk new ones. We start building our trust of a child when he is little. If we've habitually picked up the toys our toddler flung to the floor, we lost the experience of his power to right his mistakes. Later if we interceded with his teachers for him instead of encouraging him to speak up for himself, we lost more. Still later if we excused him from paying for the window he broke, his competence to cancel out his mistakes simply had no reality for us.

Under such circumstances, we'd naturally feel reluctant to let him choose his own summer camp. We'd feel that if his choice turned out bad, he'd suffer in helplessness all summer because we weren't there to put things right for him.

TODAY one of the questions parents most frequently ask child psychologists is: "How can I tell when my child is ready to make an important decision for himself?"

As the answer lies within our own experiences of how well he corrects his mistakes, the psychologists can't give us a satisfactory one. The trouble is, some duck this fact, retreating into vague suggestions that we get the child's "psychological age" tested and have him otherwise measured by mechanical substitutes for human relationship.

Well, their tests may solve their problems—but ours remains until we're brave enough to see that our question reflects our inexperience with the child as a self-correcting person.

Penny Beach Is Prominent Figure in Girl Scout Folk Festival Saturday

In announcing further plans for the Folk Dance Festival to be presented by the Girl Scouts of Warren and Forest counties on Saturday, May 11th, at War Memorial Field, the program committee in charge of this project wishes to give special recognition to Mrs. Penny Beach, director of the Festival.

Mrs. Beach's wide experience in the field of dancing qualifies her most aptly for the position of director of this large production, which will include the majority of the 1400 registered Girl Scouts throughout the Warren-Forest Council.

In addition to her duties of coordinating the activities and setting up the program, Mrs. Beach has made many visits to the various neighborhoods and troops to instruct the leaders in the dances their girls will perform, and to confer with them on costumes and various other aspects of their performances. The time and effort she has devoted to carry this project to a successful conclusion will be evident on Saturday afternoon

The public is invited to the Folk Dance Festival Saturday afternoon at 1:00 p. m. at War Memorial Field or, in case of rain, at Beauty gym. It will truly be a spectacle well worth attending, and a large attendance is hoped for.

Cadillac

Third Generation at the Wheel!

"Like father, like son", the poets say.

And never was it truer than in the case of a great many fine Cadillac families.

For there are, in our land today, a number of families that currently boast as many as three generations at the wheel.

We mention this simply to underscore a great and dramatic truth about Cadillac—that, of course, is its unchanging goodness and quality.

For fifty-five years, the Cadillac name has signified one and the same thing to motorists everywhere—a motor car created at the highest level that automotive science would permit.

Over that time, Cadillac has attracted to the ranks of its owners the finest list of names to be found anywhere on the American motoring scene.

And, those who have followed the path to Cadillac in 1957 are enjoying the most abundant blessings of this ceaseless crusade for quality.

The new "car of cars", with coachcraft by Fleetwood, is beautiful and luxurious to an unprecedented degree. And its performance and handling ease are a revelation!

Certainly, the Cadillac car has now become an even wiser investment for an even wider circle of America's motorists.

If you have yet to acquaint yourself with these brilliant Cadillac virtues for 1957, your dealer will be delighted to tell you how easily you can make Cadillac a fine family custom of your own!

Sidewalk Show Benefits School Collection Fund

In spite of a snowy Saturday morning, which compelled the Sidewalk Show to move indoors to the corridors of Warren county court house, many persons came to view the pictures shown through the sponsorship of the Art Sponsors Committee and many sales were made.

Don Wharton's quick portrait sketching drew a large audience and a line soon formed. Seven portraits were completed between 11:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m., and many were turned away because of lack of time.

However, Mr. Wharton has consented to do portraits for those who were thus disappointed and has generously contributed entire proceeds of his painting session to the Art Sponsors Fund.

In addition to the portrait sketches, sales included 21 pictures done by members of the Warren Art Group, also a number of decorated baskets.

The amount received from sales, plus several contributions by friends, has added nearly $150 to the fund for purchase of paintings to form a permanent collection of art for Warren High School.

The wish has been expressed that the Sidewalk Show might become an annual event and it has been suggested early fall might be more auspicious as to weather conditions as less likely to conflict with the Art Sponsors' Fund show and the Talent Recognition Art Show.

Fellowship Luncheon of Church Women's Group

Warren Council of United Church Women held a delightful luncheon and program at First Presbyterian church Friday afternoon, with approximately 150 ladies in attendance, the tables decorated with Maypoles and May hats. Associating churches were First Methodist and First Presbyterian.

Mrs. Charles B. Kinney was in charge of the meeting and directed distribution of constitutional copies to all churches represented.

Mrs. B. H. White announced there are several seats available on the chartered bus for the state convention May 8 at Erie. By taking care of one's own meals, the only charge will be $1 registration. By telephoning Mrs. White, many may take advantage of the Wesleyan Players and state speakers under the theme "The Whole Family of God".

Mrs. Donald Spencer ably conducted devotions using Luke 2:25-30 as scripture. Mrs. Everett Borg sang "God Is In Everything". Mrs. Carl Whipple played for the offering and also accompanied Mrs. Borg, who sang "Thanks Be to God".

Mrs. Neil Donovan, first vice president, introduced Mrs. Clyde Watford, a member of the Allegheny county commission for public schools, who was legislative consultant for United Church Women in Washington for four years.

Mrs. Watford spoke impressively on "Free Schools in a Free America", pointing out through American history how people have needed the kind of education necessary to help them carry on new business of a new country. She stressed our God-given abilities are not ours to develop as we choose, that we have a citizenship responsibility and that democracy depends on the intelligent participation of citizens.

In conclusion, Mrs. Kinney pronounced the benediction.

Religious-Secular Works For Choir Presentation

When Director Carroll A. Fowler presents members of his Warren High School A Cappella Choir in their annual Spring Concert in Beaty Junior High School auditorium at 8:15 p. m. May 16, the program will include both religious and secular compositions and will feature several soloists.

To open the program, the choir will sing the ever-beautiful "My God and I". Other religious titles will include "If Thou But Suffer God to Guide Thee" by Lundquist, "Breath of God" by Sateren, and "The Creation" by Richter.

For the second section, the choristers will offer a group of secular works. "Shenandoah" by Gardner, an old sea chanty; "Madame Jeanette" by Murray; "Dis Train" by Hauston, and the familiar and always appreciated "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes", old English air arranged by Blakeslee.

This part of the performance will be concluded with the choir's presentation of the negro spiritual "Shadrack", originally made famous as a vocal solo.

Tickets for this springtime musical event are on sale for 50 cents from any member of the choir.

WARREN ART GROUP ENJOYS ANNUAL DINNER

The third annual dinner for members of Warren Art Group and their husbands was held at Jackson Heights Restaurant, and the artistic atmosphere which prevailed greatly enhanced the common interest shared by the group, which was in evidence from the delightfully phrased poetry place cards to the extemporaneous after-dinner speeches by Dave Potter and C. J. Crary. Following dinner, a humorous piano selection by Carl Sorensen and group singing were enjoyed.

The group, organized in 1954 for the purpose of furthering art in the community, has chosen as its annual projects the Scholarship Fund, through which one award is made each year to a senior art student, and the Art Sponsors Fund, for the purchase of original paintings for the contemporary collection in Warren High School.

Candy Store Princess

—Kofod Studio
"PRINCESS PAM"

Once upon a time there was a wonderful candy store in Times Square in Warren. Though business was good, and the candy delicious, and the customers delighted, still the proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reynolds, felt there was something lacking.

The tantalizing aroma of peppermint, mingled with the creamy chocolate, coconut, and other mouth-watering flavors, drifted out the door, and passersby, tempted by the wonderful fragrance, stopped to purchase. But still, the place lacked something.

And then one day, on August 29, 1956, to be exact, it happened! Just a few days after the opening of the little confectionery store on August second, the Reynolds' found out what the place needed—A fairy princess!

Her name is Pam. Like all princesses she has a sunny disposition, an unforgettable smile, and twinkling eyes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mays of Youngville, and granddaughter of the Reynolds'. She spends a great deal of time with Grandpa and Grandma, at the candy shop at 133 Pennsylvania avenue west, and Grandfather comments "She's not too young to know good candy!"

Budget Is Adopted By Northern Area School Jointure

At a special meeting of Northern Area School Board, held in the conference room at Eisenhower High School, President Travers Stohberg led the group in consideration and adoption of the 1957-58 budget. It is now each member's responsibility to plan its own budget to meet its portion of the complete jointure budget. As adopted, the budget calls for a total of $497,469.02 for the ensuing school year, an increase of $22,445.66 over 1956-57. Of this increase, added instructional expense mandated by existing salary increment laws and increased enrollment account for $14,865. Necessary repairs and improvements to school property in the grade schools, planned initiation of an adult education program, purchase of ground-care equipment for use at the new high school, and increased costs for such items as insurance, possible integration of Social Security with the State School Employees' Retirement Plans, and replacement of obsolete books and equipment consume the remaining portion of the over-all increase.

The form of the budget adopted differed quite extensively from an earlier tentative budget, which called for an additional expenditure of $20,330.34 and was reduced through elimination of some services proposed and curtailment of others.

Board Secretary Hazel. Keys presented minutes of the April meeting; several problems pertaining to staff members were presented for discussion, the date of the regular monthly meeting was changed from May 8 to May 22.

The Warren County Democratic organization headed by Chester Wilker still holds the patronage reins by virtue of state committee recognition.

FORMER COUNTY MAN HURT

George White, 39, former Tidoute resident, is in critical condition in a hospital at Crossville, Ill., after being run over by his own tractor. Yesterday his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle White, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth White, all of Tidoute, went to Illinois to be at his bedside. An employee of the Tidewater Oil Company, Mr. White went home to his small farm after work last Friday and proceeded to drive his tractor. The machine threw him off, circled and ran over him twice before he was able to crawl away. A daughter first, then his wife, rushed to his aid. Mrs. White is the daughter of Mrs. Olive Hoover of Pleasantville. The Whites have two daughters, 15 and 11.

Retailers Planning

A drive to sign up blood donors from the retail establishments will begin this week with donor cards being mailed to all merchants. A special visit of the bloodmobile will be made at Warren on June 26 and enough retailers and their employees must be signed up to make the trip here worthwhile.
Special guests at last evening's Retailer meeting were Claude Johnson of the Warren City Lanes, Arthur E. Halferty, of Eastern Greyhound Lanes, and J. E. Campbell of the Greyhound Corporation of Chicago who explained his company's program for Greyhound parcel express.
George Redding, vice-chairman of the committee presided at the session with twenty-one persons attending.

Measure

"As amended this bill in our opinion does an incomplete and unsatisfactory job," contended G. Richard Dev, general manager of the PNPA.
Meanwhile, a House bill to require records of all public agencies in political subdivisions to be open to the public was in position for possible final passage this week. If approved, it would have to be acted upon by the Senate.
The Pennsylvania Bar Assn. and several bond attorneys organizations opposed the open meetings measure as it passed the Senate. They contend the bill would "hamstring" municipal or state bond proceedings.

Warren Thinclads Will Be Out To Avenge First Loss Of Season in Jamestown Today

Warren High School track men, after a less than spectacular performance at Bradford Friday, will be out for win No. 4 today against the Red Raiders at Jamestown.

The local thinclads are expected to be up for the meet after their first loss of the season to the Owls last week. Previously the record stood at three straight.

Coach Loyal Briggs said this morning that the javelin throw would not take place at the New York State arena since it is outlawed. Also the mile relay will be dispensed with because under Empire State law no thinclad may run in two events longer than 440 yards and manpower is at a premium.

Other competition today will find Youngsville traveling to Oil City for a match.

Starting position for the Warren match today:

150 low hurdles — Lindquist, Johnson, Brumagin.

100 dash — Suppa, Hultman, Johnson.

Mile run — Swanson, Taft, Cashman.

Half Mile Relay — Suppa, Lindquist, Wiedmaier, Karkosky.

440 dash — VanBlais, Haslet, Grady.

880 — Saunders, Bennett, Aldrich.

220 — Suppa, Karkosky, Wiedmaier.

Shotput — D. Kremer, Rickerson, Mervine.

Pole vault — Tremblay, Stenberg, Tinelli.

Discus — Bowen, Hultman, Fowler.

High jump — D. Kremer, Berdine, R. Kremer.

Broad jump — Lindquist, Karkosky, Hultman.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By Hal Sharp USE CAUTION WHEN WEARING WADERS

CHEST-HIGH WADERS PERMIT THE ANGLER TO WADE DEEPER THAN HE COULD IN HIP BOOTS. DEEP WADING IN THESE WADERS IS PERFECTLY SAFE IN QUIET PONDS OR SLOW-MOVING STREAMS, IF THERE ARE NO SUDDEN DROP-OFFS. HOWEVER, IT'S UNWISE TO WADE DEEPER THAN HIP BOOTS ALLOW IN SWIFT CURRENTS; WADERS BREED OVER-CONFIDENCE, LEADING TO DEEPER CURRENTS THAT SWEEP YOU OFF YOUR FEET. FOR THIS REASON, SOME ANGLERS PREFER HIP BOOTS THAT LIMIT WADING.

DRIVE CAREFULLY

Grayson's Scoreboard

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Jackie Robinson's crack about extra-curricular activities beating them last season didn't mean anything one way or another to the Braves.

"The same thing could be said about any ball club," says Fred Haney.

"What did have an effect on our guys was 20,000 people turning out at the Milwaukee airport after we had blown the pennant on the last day of the season in St. Louis. I don't care how hard-bitten the old pro was, that message really got over. There wasn't a fellow in our crowd who didn't say to himself, 'I won't let these people down next year.'"

"That's why we were the hardest working club in training this spring... and without a single gripe."

"There are several reasons why the ballplayer has to live the good life in Milwaukee, but the principal one is that he resides in a glass house. Interest is so keen that everybody is watching him. And if the player steps in for a beer and there are 20 people in the tavern, he's had 20 beers."

"THERE WAS THE NIGHT last summer when a sports writer telephoned to tell me that one of our players was so drunk in a tavern that a cop had to drive him home. When I looked into the case the next day, I found that the player and his wife had stopped at the joint for a beer and waited for the policeman, who was related to the missus. The policeman was off duty, so he drove the couple home."

"It's annoying sometimes, but it's nice to have so many people so interested and keeping an eye on the talent."

"The ballplayer who kicks around nights doesn't stick around long today. He knows he isn't fooling anybody when he comes around with saucers around his eyes. He isn't fooling an older manager who did the same thing himself for 20 years."

Manager Haney did a smart thing at the start of the training grind. The old Detroit third baseman went over the painful stretch run of 1956, did his best to straighten out all mistakes. At the end of the confab, he said, "Now that's the last time I want last year mentioned. It's what happens from now on that counts."

THE BRAVES DON'T SPEAK of last year.

"But the dumbest club couldn't help but learn from our experience of the last two weeks of last season, when we were overtaken and beaten solely because we didn't hit," adds Haney.

"And say something nice about Henry Aaron, won't you? Get on Aaron's bandwagon and stay there."

"Henry led the league with .328 last season. The kid with the Step'n Fetchit legs should hit 40 points more this year and at 23 has not yet reached his maximum. He'll go down in the books as one of the truly great right-hand hitters. He can throw and runs as fast as he wants to. Let him sniff a base hit and he'll get down that baseline as fast as anybody."

"And you won't find Henry Aaron popping into a tavern for even one beer."

Ball Takes Crazy Bounce And Robs Lew Burdett and Braves Of Victory Over the Dodgers

By JOE REICHLER The Associated Press

Lew Burdette was mad enough today to spit. And so were the rest of the Milwaukee Braves.

The ball took a crazy bounce yesterday at the most inopportune moment, depriving Burdette of his fourth victory and the Braves of a 4-3 triumph over Brooklyn.

Instead, the Dodgers went on to win 5-4 in 14 innings to gain a split in their two-game series at Ebbets Field.

Here's what happened. The Dodgers were at bat in the 12th, trailing 4-3, two out, runners on first and second and Carl Furillo the batter.

Burdette, who had overcome a 3-0 deficit and a warning from plate umpire Lee Ballanfant after nearly decapitating Roy Campanella with a pitch, was getting along swimmingly. Since the first inning, when Carl Furillo smashed a three-run homer, the Dodgers hadn't come within spitting distance of a run. Burdette disposed of the first two batters easily but Gino Cimoli clubbed a double for his fourth hit.

Sandy Amorós walked on a 3-2 pitch but the game apparently was over when Furillo sent a bouncer to shortstop. Just as Johnny Logan got set to field the ball, it took a bad hop over his head and Cimoli raced home with the tying run.

In the 14th, Cimoli crashed a pitch by reliever Red Murff into the left field stands for a home run to break up the overtime tussle.

The Dodger victory went to Sandy Koufax.

In the only other game in the National League, the Chicago Cubs whipped the New York Giants, 6-2 to move into a seventh place tie with Pittsburgh. Young, Don Kaiser hurled a six-hitter for his first victory of the year.

Kansas City, the early season surprise of the American League, broke a three-way tie for fourth place with an 8-2 victory over Washington. Baltimore dropped Detroit into sixth place, defeating the Tigers 8-8 in 13 innings.

Pee Wee Reese saw action for the first time this season.

St. Lawrence Seaway Subject of Interesting Talk Delivered at North Warren Civic Club Dinner

The many advantages which will accrue to this region once the St. Lawrence Seaway opens in April of 1959 were outlined at North Warren Civic Club annual banquet last night by William B. Lawless (second from left), corporation counsel for City of Buffalo. He was introduced by Toastmaster "Shorty" Miller at left, and committeemen who helped make the banquet a large success were W. O. Lawson, dinner chairman, and at right, James Blomquist, program chairman.

"You're on the main line."

With that allusion to North Warren and Warren placing them in the vast area to be served by the St. Lawrence Seaway, William B. Lawless last night exhorted approximately 150 North Warren Civic Club members and guests to stand behind Buffalo in its fight for government-financed harbor improvements.

The guest speaker, City of Buffalo corporation counsel, stated that the target date set for opening of the Seaway was April of 1959 and then told of the present race between Great Lakes cities for the lion's share of the ocean trade.

Along the way, Mr. Lawless mentioned the many benefits which would accrue to those "in the economic and strategic heart" of the country which will be the section of the United States comprising 80 percent of its population to be served by the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Speaking in tonnage, the public relations executive noted that conservative estimates said general cargo trade would increase by 64 million tons by 1965. He observed that other bulk cargoes such as tankers, grain and food would enjoy similar increases.

Mr. Lawless also envisioned the day in 1959 when a passenger could embark at the foot of Main Street in Buffalo and disembark first passed by Congress in May at Liverpool, Leflarve or Mar-of 1854 and adopted into law it was the St. Lawrence rapids, every harbor on the Great Lakes is going to be viable for ships of ocean-going size and a 27-foot depth is necessary.

This means that towns such as Oswego, Buffalo, Erie, Cleveland, Duluth, Chicago, Milwaukee and Duluth are struggling for the most federal funds. Cleveland has stolen a long march on the publicity angle. Civic Club members were told, by virtue of that city's successful bid to have the Pan-American games there in 1959.

Said Lawless: "This means that with world attention focused upon them, athletes from all over the two continents will sail into their harbor. Cleveland was already receiving $10,000,000 annually in federal funds for harbor improvements while Buffalo limped along on $30,000."

Buffalo, after a mass plea in Washington by leading citizens, now has the fund problem partially licked (last year they received about $2,500,000) but still is wrestling with Army Engineers who can't make up their mind.

Buffalo has a two-fold problem, said Lawless, with its two harbors. "The south harbor (the one familiar to most of you as you drive toward Buffalo)", needs to be dredged and this would be fairly easy because it is a silt bottom. The north harbor however, is solid rock and there you have to blast before dredging is possible.

"The original Army engineer was friendly to most of us who believe that the south harbor should be dredged first. However, he was transferred and his successor believes the north harbor should be deepened first. So far we haven't got this straightened out or started our harbor improvements. Other cities, especially Cleveland, Milwaukee and Chicago, already have expansive programs under way. There won't be enough federal funds for all. Oswego has a lot of enthusiasm and perhaps the best natural harbor, but 10 to 15 years will be needed to bring them up to our present level."

Lawless remarked that just the promise of Seaway business has already increased ocean-going trade out of Buffalo and that that business has jumped 150 percent in the past two years. Industrialists of all types have urged the city to go on with its plans which brought about creation of a Harbor Authority. A survey was also run which showed first, the harbor needed deepening to 27 feet, that a 5 1/2 million dollar general cargo pier should be built, along with various warehouses.

As part of his argument for speaking of increased business which would be springing from this area once the St. Lawrence Seaway is completed, Lawless said that during the war approximately 60 percent of 700,000 tons of shipping parts were fabricated in the Greater Great Lakes area, but that only 2 1/2 percent of the ships were launched on the Great Lakes.

"And you're on the main route," Lawless concluded. "Transportation officials such as railroaders and truckers all believe that they can work with us for the growth of the region. The thru-way and airports will only serve to add to the growing industrial economy of a region which now is like a pressed spring waiting for the Seaway to bring it to life."

Hart Looking For Bigger Game After Win Over Wilson

New York (AP)—Garnet "Sugar" Hart, 21, Philadelphia's classy welterweight prospect, today offered substantial guarantees to the three leading contenders and Boston's Walt Byars for a June or July fight in Camden, N. J.

Boston's Tony De Marco and Byars can get at least $10,000 each and Mexico's Gaspar Ortega and Cuba's Ike Logart $7,500 each for a scrap with Hart, said Manager Marty Stein.

Stein, a Philadelphian, issued the challenge after Hart handed Al "Sugar" Wilson, a terrific pasting in a telecast 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

The skinny, 5-11 Hart received 9-1 votes from all three officials. He lost the ninth because of a low blow.

Hart is dead set on getting a return crack at Byars, a crafty ex-Marine who outpointed Sugar in Madison Square Garden last March 8. That was Hart's second pro defeat and his first loss in two years.

"Byars won by going into his shell and fighting like a turtle," said Hart. "Now I know how to cope with his kind of style. Willie Stevenson and Wilson both tried to fight like Byars."

Hart stopped Stevenson in seven April 15.

The kid with the Elvis Presley sideburns hit Wilson, making his first start in five months, with every punch in the book. He had Al bleeding from the nose and staggered him several times but he couldn't floor him. Wilson has been stopped once and that happened eight years ago.

A 5-1 favorite, Hart, 148, scored his 22nd victory. He has lost two. Wilson, 149, lost his 17th fight. He has won 27. A crowd of 1,385 paid $2.85 to see the near-shutout.

Dresden Surprised At Rumors About Plans to Oust Him

Detroit (AP)—Surprised almost to the point of disbelief at a published report that he is about to be fired as manager of the last-place Washington Senators, Chuck Dresden awaited the arrival today of the club's president for a show-down meeting.

Calvin Griffith was due in Detroit today. A story out of Washington last night quoted Griffith as saying "something drastic" would have to be done about the Senators' situation. They have lost eight games in a row and have only four victories in the first 20 games.

"I'd have thought Calvin would have notified me if he planned to discuss something like that," said Dresden, 56, who piloted the Brooklyn Dodgers to a pair of National League pennants.

"The whole thing comes as a shock to me," he said after hearing that the Washington Post and Times Herald said it has "learned that Griffith's plan for drastic action includes the dismissal of Dresden and the promotion of one of the team's coaches, Billy Jurges or Cookie Lavagetto, as manager with temporary status."

Dresden said he hasn't talked with the club's president since last Saturday.

Big Ten Directors Are Divided Over Financial Setup

Chicago (AP)—Big Ten athletic leaders are divided over whether the new program of financial aid to athletes has led to wholesale raiding by outside schools.

Stu Holcomb, Northwestern athletic director, yesterday blamed the plan for large-scale raids in the Chicago area but received the backing of only three other schools—Iowa, Minnesota and Indiana.

The others—Illinois, Michigan, Michigan State, Wisconsin, Ohio State and Purdue—said they could see little or no difference.

The 6-4 margin is the same by which the Big Ten approved the new program last February. The plan prohibits a conference school from making a formal or valid tender of aid to an athlete until June 15. It also bases aid to athletes on proven need and financial statements from parents are required to prove such need.

"In time the plan will kill us,"

Shoemaker Draws Suspension For Miscue in Saturday Race

Louisville, Ky. (AP)—One of the biggest miscues in racing history has cost jockey Willie Shoemaker a 15-day suspension.

Churchill Downs suspended Shoemaker yesterday for "gross carelessness" in misjudging the finish line in last Saturday's 88rd running of the Kentucky Derby.

Shoemaker's mount Gallant Man finished second in a photo finish to Calumet Farm's Iron Leige.

After the race, Shoemaker said he mistook the 16th pole for the finish line and eased up on his mount.

Officials at the Downs said their authority is limited to Kentucky, but, normally all American tracks will honor the suspension, which goes into effect tomorrow.

Shoemaker agreed the action will keep him out of the Preakness at Baltimore's Pimlico track May 18. He added he had been assigned to ride Gallant Man in that race.

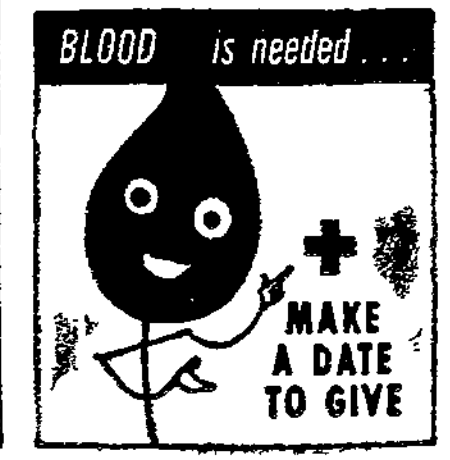

Shoemaker said in Los Angeles last night he believed "my miscue cost Gallant Man the race, but certainly not by a length. I believe he would have won by a nose or more."

Earlier, he commented his boner was "a natural mistake. I thought the 16th pole was the finish line. That's all there was to it."

Special Truck Taxes in Nation Near the $2,000,000,000 Mark

Washington, D. C.—Owners of the 9.9 million private and for-hire trucks operating in the United States in 1955 paid $1.9 billion in special federal, state and local motor vehicle taxes—exclusive of property and income taxes—according to "American Trucking Trends."

American Trucking Associations publishers of the newly issued annual volume, estimates that the 1956 totals for these taxes will top the $2 billion mark, and probably reach $2.2 billion.

The truck tax estimate for 1956 only partially reflects the increases resulting from the Federal Highway Act of 1956. Truck taxes in 1957, and the years to follow, will increase even more sharply as a result of the new highway program, according to ATA officials.

These figures include state registration, gasoline, motor carrier, trailer and miscellaneous fees, Federal automotive excise taxes, special city and county taxes and bridge, tunnel, ferry and road tolls. As compared to 1954, the 1955 total was up $183 millions.

America's motor trucks, which comprise about 16 per cent of vehicles registered, paid 33 per cent of the 1955 state and local highway user taxes, according to "Trends."

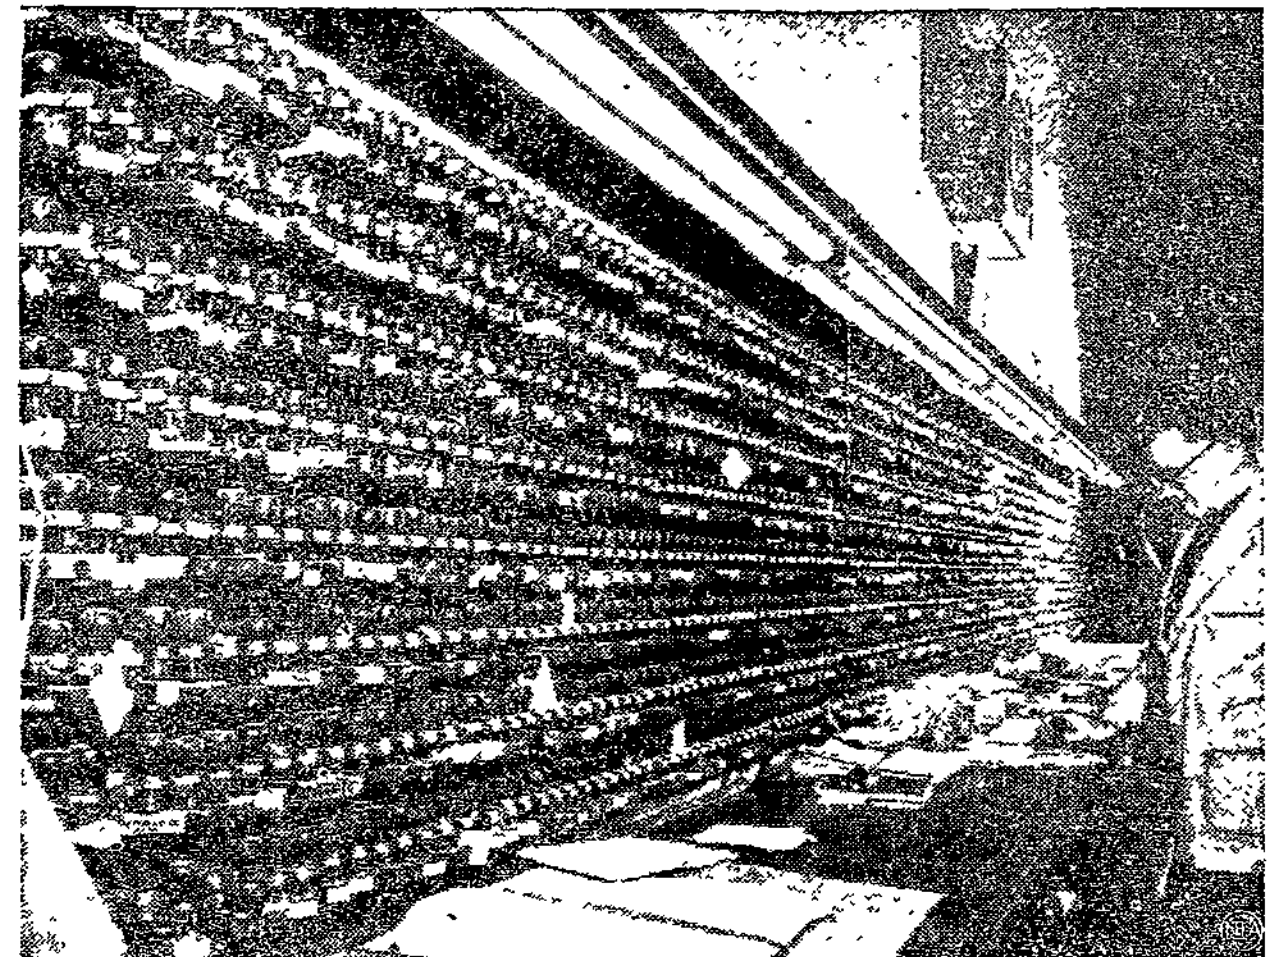

Other indices of the expansion of the trucking industry in 1955 as compared to 1954 reported in "Trends" include: gross revenue for Class I, II and III carriers up from $4.7 to $5.5 billions, index of tonnage hauled by Class I carriers up from 154 to 177 (index of 100 set at 1947-49 level); interest, ten miles up from 215 to 226 billions, and rural vehicle miles up from 68 to 70 billions.

The average wage paid to highway transportation employees in 1955 rose to $5.130, almost $300 higher than the previous year's average. The average 1955 wage for all private industry was $3.856, according to "Trends."

"Trends" also reported the trucking industry spent in 1955 more than $4 billions—about one-twelfth the Nation's Gross National Product—for wages, fuel, equipment and other goods and services.

LITTLE SMOKEY STOVERS—Members of Mead Township Cub Pack 33 learned how the big Samaritans operate Saturday morning when they visited Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department. Chief Leonard Falbriski talked to the boys and explained the fire fighting equipment to the kiddies. They also donned the official hats, watched a brief demonstration and were given a ride on the truck. Timesphoto by Saylor.

ANTIGONISH, ANYBODY?—What's believed to be the largest rubber stamp collection in the world stretches in front of baggage clerk Michael Burke in the baggage room at New York's Grand Central Station. Some 2,000 of the stamps are used to mark baggage checks with destinations and routings. Bearing thousands of place names, the stamps give clerks an opportunity to become geography experts and maybe someday TV quiz contestants.

Dear Sir:

I would like to say a few more words about the Kinzua Dam. Since I wrote my last article on the subject I have found out that very few people know just how to go about putting in a good word for it. If you care to help the cause along send a letter of your approval to Rep. Clarence Cannon, chairman Appropriations Committee, House of Rep., Wash. 25, D. C. Not only the people of Warren can help in this matter but how about our burgess, council and civic and fraternal organizations? They could help to no end. I am sure there are some members of the organizations who live in areas affected by flood waters. I know every person affected by same would appreciate the help.

they could get from these influential people and organizations. Let's all get behind this and push it to the limit. Attention: Oil City, Franklin and Pittsburgh papers.

Milton G. Knopf

P.S. Also the Chamber of Commerce might be able to help to no small degree. Also the heads of our industrial plants affected by the high water of which there are many, also business firms who are in danger of high water.

Dear Mr. Lowrey:
At the Principals meeting last evening they asked that I convey their thanks to you for your help with the Kindergarten registration. As a result of the several articles and the editorial you so kindly included, the parents brought the vaccination and birth certificates and attended the meetings better than they have done in the past.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
Carl E. Whipple,
Superintendent of Schools

A MOST HAPPY FELLA

If the man behind the bar at your favorite tavern looks particularly pleased, proud and happy this month, there's a reason. This is National Tavern Month.

This is the month that's set aside to salute him and the great old American institution he represents...the friendly tavern...because it's THE FRIENDLIEST PLACE IN TOWN.

It's hospitality headquarters in everybody's town. It's a place that says, "Welcome, stranger!" and "Welcome back, friends!" It's a place to feel at home...to have a friendly chat...and enjoy a sociable drink.

So make it a point in this merry month of May (and all through the year, for that matter) to share the friendliness of your favorite tavern. Wish the barman well...and enjoy his wares. For his brands are very often our brands. And he serves them with the same pride with which we make them.
